04 Chairman Message

2025 has been a significant year for NSW Rugby, marked by progress, alignment, and a clear focus on the future of the game in New South Wales.

As a Board, our role is to provide strong governance, strategic oversight, and long-term direction for the organisation. Throughout the year, we have remained focused on ensuring NSW Rugby is well-positioned to grow sustainably, support its community, and capitalise on the opportunities ahead - particularly with the Rugby World Cups in 2027 and 2029 on the horizon.

A key step in strengthening this direction has been the introduction of a new three-year plan to guide the game across New South Wales. This plan brings greater alignment across our stakeholders and sets clear priorities around participation growth, competition quality, and long-term sustainability, ensuring we are collectively working towards a stronger and more connected rugby ecosystem.

One of the most important areas of focus has been strengthening the foundations of the game. Community rugby continues to be the lifeblood of our sport, and it is encouraging to see continued investment in participation, club development, and pathways. The Board has worked closely with management to ensure that decisions made today will support a stronger, more resilient game for the future.

Strategic Progress

While still early in the current cycle, we are seeing encouraging progress across key areas of focus:

- Competitions & Pathways: Ongoing investment in club development, volunteer support, and player pathways, with early work underway to modernise competition structures.
- Participation & Growth: Targeted initiatives supporting recruitment and retention, including a strong focus on priority regions such as Western Sydney.
- Commercial & Financial Sustainability: Growth in partnerships, government engagement, and digital platforms such as NSW Rugby TV, supporting a more sustainable future for the game.

These areas reflect our broader ambition to grow participation and ensure rugby remains a sport for all across New South Wales.

The NSW Rugby Foundation has continued to play an increasingly important role in 2025. Through its Rugby For Good programs, the Foundation is delivering meaningful outcomes across mental health, inclusion, and community development. This work reinforces the broader purpose of rugby and highlights the impact our game can have beyond the field.

A key milestone this year has been the continued collaboration with government and key stakeholders to deliver the NSW Rugby World Cup Legacy Program. This investment represents a transformative opportunity for rugby in this state, and the Board is committed to ensuring these funds are directed in a way that maximises long-term participation, infrastructure, and community benefit.

Two areas of strategic focus are worth highlighting. The first is the continued rollout of initiatives in Western Sydney, which remains a critical growth area for the game and a key pillar of our long-term participation strategy. The second is the work underway to strengthen the governance and competition framework for women's rugby, ensuring it is well positioned to support the rapid growth and opportunity within the women's game across the state.

From a governance perspective, the Board has remained focused on ensuring strong financial stewardship, effective risk management, and organisational alignment. We have continued to evolve our strategic framework, ensuring it reflects both the current environment and the opportunities presented by upcoming global events.

During the year, Andrew Hutton retired from the Board after serving four years as NSWJRU representative and we welcomed Chuck Ardron onto the Board in his stead. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Andrew and my board colleagues for their support and contribution to the effective governance of NSWRU's affairs. I would also like to acknowledge the leadership of CEO Peter Murphy and the NSW Rugby executive team, whose commitment and professionalism continue to drive the organisation forward. I also extend my thanks to our volunteers, clubs, match officials, partners, and our other stakeholders - your ongoing contribution is critical to the success of rugby across New South Wales.

As we look ahead, we do so with confidence. The foundations are strong, the opportunities are significant, and the collective ambition across our game is clear.

On behalf of the Board, thank you for your continued support of NSW Rugby.

Tony Crawford

New South Wales Rugby Union

05 CEO Message

2025 has been a year of momentum, alignment, and purpose for NSW Rugby.

Across every level of the game, we have continued to strengthen our foundations while positioning rugby in New South Wales to capitalise on the once-in-a-generation opportunity presented by the Rugby World Cups in 2027 and 2029. This has guided much of our focus - ensuring we are not only ready to host the world, but that we leave a lasting legacy for our communities, clubs, and participants.

At the community level, participation and engagement remain at the heart of everything we do. We have seen encouraging growth across junior and senior rugby, supported by targeted initiatives to improve accessibility, reduce barriers to entry, and enhance the overall player and volunteer experience. Our continued investment in club and community rugby ensures the strength of the game from the ground up.

A key highlight of 2025 has been the expansion of our Rugby For Good programs through the NSW Rugby Foundation. These initiatives continue to demonstrate the powerful role rugby can play beyond the field - supporting mental health and wellbeing, driving inclusion, and creating meaningful opportunities for individuals and communities across metropolitan and regional NSW. The work of the Foundation, and the generosity of our donors and partners, remains central to delivering real and lasting social impact.

Our partnerships have also gone from strength to strength this year. We are proud to work alongside organisations who share our vision for the game and its future, enabling us to invest back into rugby at all levels. From grassroots initiatives through to high-performance alignment, these partnerships are critical to our ongoing sustainability and growth.

In 2025, we have also continued to enhance how we tell the story of rugby in NSW. Through the growth of NSW Rugby TV and a more integrated communications approach, we have expanded our reach, elevated our competitions, and better connected with our stakeholders. This is an important step as we build towards the global spotlight of the Rugby World Cups.

Significant progress has also been made in our collaboration with government and key stakeholders. The NSW Rugby World Cup Legacy Program represents a major investment into the future of the game - supporting infrastructure, participation, and development initiatives that will benefit rugby communities across the state for years to come.

None of this progress would be possible without the dedication and commitment of our volunteers, clubs, match officials, players, and staff. Their passion for the game is what drives rugby forward every day.

As we look ahead, our focus remains clear - to grow the game, strengthen our communities, and ensure rugby in New South Wales is thriving well beyond 2027 and 2029.

Thank you to everyone who continues to support and believe in NSW Rugby.

CEO MESSAGE

The NSW Positive Rugby Foundation exists to harness the power of rugby to create meaningful social impact across New South Wales.
In 2025, Rugby For Good continued to demonstrate that our game is more than competition - it is connection, opportunity and belonging. Through targeted programs, strategic partnerships and the collective commitment of the rugby community, we have invested $918,000 in 2025.

Working in partnership with NSW Rugby Union the Foundation supported Rugby For Good initiatives focused on inclusion, education, wellbeing and participation growth - particularly across Western Sydney and regional NSW.

This year's report reflects not only financial stewardship and program delivery, but stories of resilience, leadership and opportunity created through rugby. From supporting disadvantaged young people to strengthening grassroots communities, the impact extends well beyond the field.

As we look to the future, we are pleased to welcome Karlene McKeown as General Manager of Revenue. Karlene brings a wealth of experience across partnerships, commercial growth and stakeholder engagement, and will play a key role in strengthening our revenue streams and expanding the impact of Rugby For Good. Her appointment marks an important step in ensuring the long-term sustainability and growth of the Foundation.

We remain guided by a simple principle: when we strengthen people, we strengthen the game.

Thank you to our members, donors, partners, and volunteers who continue to back Rugby For Good. Together, we are building a more inclusive, connected, and positive rugby community for the future.

Play Our Way is a flagship Women & Girls participation and engagement initiative amid to create inclusive, accessible, and sustainable rugby opportunities for women and girls, using rugby as a platform to drive confidence, connection, and long-term participation.

FIRST NATIONS

In 2025 NSWRU presented its R.A.P with the announcement and appointment of Lakeisha Hull as the organisation's inaugural First Nations Manager a significant milestone that reflects NSWRU's commitment to reconciliation, cultural connection and lasting impact for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities across the game.
This appointment has been made possible by the support from the Foundation as we continue to support Lakeisha's work in developing a First Nations Strategic plan for rugby across NSW.

WARATAHS IN THE WEST

With the support of the Macquarie Sports Foundation, we successfully delivered a Western Sydney junior participation Gala event.
The event served as both a community engagement platform and a strategic activation, reinforcing rugby's presence and long-term growth ambitions in Western Sydney.
A key outcome was the securing of $25,000 in funding from Macquarie Bank, alongside strong engagement from clubs delivering the Star program, further validating its position as a high-impact grassroots initiative.

With over 150 junior participants attending, the gala-style event successfully:

- Launched NSW Rugby's Western Sydney Junior Strategy for 2025
- Introduced Simon Kacimaiwai, Head of Western Sydney
- Built awareness and credibility of the Star program
- Strengthened engagement with clubs, families, and local communities
- Promoted the NSW Waratahs presence in Western Sydney

Overall, Waratahs in the West represents a high-impact, multi-dimensional activation, delivering strong outcomes across participation, partnerships, and community connection. We thank Maquarie Sports for their ongoing support.

DUBBO HUB

Led by Angus McDonald our Dubbo Hub continues to deliver outstanding Rugby For Good programs across Western NSW. The Dubbo Hub continues to lead in the delivery of educational, health, employment, and community engagement outcomes in some of NSW's most disadvantaged regions.

The Dubbo Hub continues to play a critical role in delivering Rugby For Good outcomes across Western NSW, using rugby as a vehicle to drive participation, wellbeing, and opportunity in regional and remote communities.

Over the past three years, the Western Plains Junior Rugby Union has experienced significant and sustained growth in junior participation, including year-on-year growth of approximately 39%. The region now supports of 700 registered junior players, highlighting the strength and impact of Rugby For Good delivery across the Western Plains.

CLUB GROWTH AND EXPANSION

This growth is underpinned by a strong and expanding club network, including Narromine Gorillas, Macquarie Emus, Bourke Rams, Walgett Lambs, Coonamble Rams and Gulargambone Gulars. The establishment of Brewarrina Juniors and Nyngan Juniors represents a significant milestone, expanding rugby into new communities and creating sustainable participation pathways for young people across the region.

PROGRAM DELIVERY AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The Western Hub continues to deliver impactful Rugby For Good programs across schools and communities.

A cornerstone of this delivery is the Tackle Life program, a 40-week school-based initiative delivered in Coonamble High School, Delroy High School, South Dubbo Campus, Bourke High School and Brewarrina Central School. The program supports Year 9 and 10 students, building leadership, confidence and life skills through rugby while creating coaching and employment pathways.
In 2025, the program engaged 177 students, with 6 School-Based Apprentices and Trainees (SBATs) employed across regional NSW. These SBATs act as young leaders within their communities and play a key role in delivering programs locally.

DUBBO HUB

The Dubbo Hub also delivered a strong calendar of community rugby events, including gala days in Walgett, Coonamble and Bourke, along with the highly successful Friendship in Rugby Day. These events provide important entry points into rugby while strengthening community connection and engagement.
Players have also been provided with aspirational experiences through trips to Sydney, including opportunities to play at half-time of NSW Waratahs matches, connecting regional players to the elite level of the game.

PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS

A key performance highlight was the success of the U13 Boys 7s team, who won the Plate Final at the NSW State Championships, demonstrating the growing strength and depth of talent emerging from the Western Plains.

PATHWAYS AND FUTURE GROWTH

Aligned with the Rugby For Good strategy, the Dubbo Hub continues to build sustainable participation and development pathways. The strong growth across the region has created increased demand for structured competitions, workforce development, and ongoing engagement programs.
Planning is underway for the introduction of a U12 competition model in 2026, designed specifically for regional delivery. This model will consider travel distances, player numbers and club sustainability, and will support the next stage of growth across the region.
Further focus will remain on strengthening school-to-club links, expanding program delivery into new communities, and creating employment and leadership opportunities for young people through rugby.

LOOKING AHEAD

With participation now exceeding 700 registered players and strong year-on-year growth, the Dubbo Hub is well positioned to continue expanding its impact across Western NSW.
The Western Plains continues to demonstrate the power of rugby to create positive, long-term outcomes across regional communities, building stronger connections, developing young leaders, and providing opportunities that extend far beyond the game.

NORTHERN HUB

Led by Joey de Dassel, the Northern Hub has continued to grow as a leading Rugby For Good model in regional NSW, demonstrating how rugby can drive meaningful social impact while strengthening participation, partnerships and community connection.

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

A key milestone in 2025 was the establishment of a partnership with the Hunter, New England & Central Coast Primary Health Network, which funded the Rugby For Good - Community Wellbeing & Resilience Program. Delivered by Northern Hub staff across all three regions, this initiative enabled a coordinated approach to improving mental health outcomes, strengthening community connection and increasing access to support services through rugby.

  Expanded from 3 regional girls teams in 2024 to 6 teams (including 3 metro teams) across multiple age groups.
  - 450 players and 60 staff participated
  - Delivered through a 3-night camp model across 6 locations
  - Integrated Get Talkin' mental health workshops at each camp
- Tractahs – Forwards Development Program

SCHOOLS & PRIVATELY FUNDED PROGRAMS

We continued to expand privately funded rugby development programs in schools:

- NEGS Armidale
- Bishop Druitt College (Coffs Harbour)
- Woolgoolga High School
- Ballina Coast High School

WORKFORCE & SUSTAINABILITY

Sustained investment in people and structure has been critical to the Hub's growth:

- Extension of the Mid North Coast hybrid/co-funded role following a successful first 12 months
- Employment of a full-time Mental Health Project Coordinator to deliver Rugby For Good programs across Northern NSW
- New partnership with Far North Coast Rugby Union to establish a co-funded full-time position, replicating the successful Mid North Coast model

These initiatives ensure the long-term sustainability and scalability of Rugby For Good delivery in regional areas.

SUMMARY

The Northern Hub continues to demonstrate the power of rugby as a vehicle for social impact. Through strong partnerships, targeted programs and innovative event delivery, the Hub is improving lives, strengthening communities and building a sustainable future for rugby across regional NSW.

Pleasingly, with the Rugby World Cup 2027 on the horizon, the NSW Rugby World Cup Legacy Program commenced its rollout in 2025. This represents a $10 million commitment from the NSW State Government to the sport. Half of this funding has been allocated directly to NSW Rugby Union to deliver new programs and initiatives aimed at growing the game and ensuring the capacity exists to absorb increased participation. The remaining funding will be distributed to clubs, zones, and affiliates to support infrastructure upgrades, expand participation opportunities, and provide equipment grants across the state.

With the support of this Legacy funding, a new Western Sydney Manager position was established to drive participation and create sustainable growth in the region. This initiative delivered immediate results, with player participation in Western Sydney increasing by 9% in 2025. As part of a broader strategy, a three-year development plan was implemented, including the establishment of a Western Sydney Player Development Centre. More than 35 male and female players participated in high-performance training programs at Concord.. An inaugural Pacifica Leadership and Coaching Seminar was also delivered in Merrylands. In addition, significant progress was made in collaboration with Cumberland Council to secure increased access to Eric Tweedale Stadium, ensuring the venue can adequately support club, representative, school, and tournament rugby in the region.

Registered Club XV player numbers continued their upward trajectory, increasing by 1.1% to 38,244. Growth in the women's game also remained strong, rising by a further 6%. Notably, female participation has consistently bucked broader trends, recording annual growth even throughout the COVID period.

Club Sevens participation also experienced an uplift, driven by the introduction of several new competitions across both regional and metropolitan areas. Regular school participation in both Sevens and XVs formats remained stable year-on-year. Match Officials and Coach accreditation numbers increased by 18% year on year.

The inaugural NSW Rugby Reconciliation Action Plan was launched, reinforcing our commitment to fostering reconciliation through meaningful relationships, respect, and opportunity. This initiative has also enabled us to formalise and strengthen existing efforts in this space. As a result, a new Memorandum of Understanding was signed with the Lloyd McDermott Rugby Development Team, further enhancing pathways and engagement for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participants.

Waratahs players continued to make a strong impact in the community, delivering almost 500 hours of appearances across the state — an increase on the previous year. Highlights included the Sydney Junior Club Blitz, which engaged more than 40 clubs, along with regional visits to the Hunter for Santos Regional Holiday Camps, AgQuip in Gunnedah, the Steve Merrick Cup, the Narrabri Festival of Rugby, and various Country Grand Final events. Super W players also supported 15 girls camps statewide as part of the Play Our Way initiative, while the Gold Blooded Tour, featuring Classic Wallabies and Wallaroos, visited regions including New England, Central North, the Hunter, and the Central Coast.

At the Waratahs Season Awards, the following individuals were inducted into the Hall of Fame: Harold Judd (1900–07), Syd Malcom (1927–34), Ran Rankin (1935–46), Peter Crittle (1964–66), Ron Graham (1969–79), and Alana Thomas (2003–10). It was a privilege to have the two living inductees, Ron Graham and Alana Thomas, in attendance with their families to accept their awards.

The NSW Junior Sevens Championships were held in Mudgee for the first time, with a record 121 teams participating across the four-day carnival — a testament to the continued growth and popularity of the abbreviated format.

Congratulations to John Goh, who was awarded Distinguished Long Service recognition by Sport NSW, acknowledging his outstanding contribution to officiating.

Drawing on the Australian Sports Commission framework, and tailored specifically through a rugby lens, a Rugby Club Health Check was developed and rolled out to clubs across the state. This initiative assists clubs in assessing their operational effectiveness against the National Club Standards Framework. Initial findings have highlighted key focus areas, including player recruitment, governance compliance, and safeguarding which are key work-ons for 2026.

As part of NSW Rugby Union's commitment to the growth of the women's game, the Play Our Way program was launched. This included conducting 14 girls' camps across the state, engaging more than 450 participants, along with a Coaching the Female Conference and a female-only coaching course.

The program also prioritised the promotion of women's rugby through digital platforms. New girls' competitions are scheduled to be introduced in the Central Coast and Central West regions during the off-season as part of this initiative.

NSW achieved its highest-ever representation at the Australian Rugby Shield and Colts Tournament in Newcastle, with six teams competing: Sydney Women, Suburban Men and Colts, and NSW Country Men, Women, and Colts.

Congratulations to Ella Goldsmith, NSW's top-ranked female referee, officiated the bronze medal match at the Women's Rugby World Cup — a significant achievement and recognition of her excellence on the international stage.

NSW Rugby Union extends its deepest condolences to the family of Peter Meagher, who tragically lost his life in the Bondi terror attacks in December. Peter, the grandson of former Wallaby Wally Meagher and son of NSWRU Life Member Ron Meagher, was a dedicated member of the Randwick Rugby Club and long time referee will be greatly missed by all who knew him. The Waratahs honoured Peter by wearing black armbands at their first home game of 2026.

We also acknowledge the passing of Brother Bob Wallace in September at the age of 87. Brother Bob dedicated more than 50 years to schoolboy rugby and served with distinction on the Australian Schools Rugby Union from 1971 until his retirement in 2019. He was also the longest-serving Headmaster of Waverley College (1992–2004). We extend our sincere condolences to his family, friends, and the broader schoolboy rugby community.

To our community staff thank you for your tireless efforts. To all our Match Officials thank you for your service to the game Finally, the contribution of all our volunteers remains the backbone of our game. Notably, 45% of volunteers reported contributing more than six hours per week — a remarkable commitment that underpins the continued strength and sustainability of rugby across New South Wales. Thank you to all those that give up their time to support the Game.

These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated. The financial statements are for the Company being New South Wales Rugby Union Ltd.

(a) Basis of preparation

These general-purpose financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and Interpretations issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board and the Corporations Act 2001. New South Wales Rugby Union Ltd is a not-for-profit entity for the purpose of preparing the financial statements.

(i) Compliance with Australian Accounting Standards - Simplified Disclosure Requirements

The financial statements of the Company comply with Australian Accounting Standards – Simplified Disclosure Requirements as issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB).

The Company is a company limited by guarantee, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. A voting member is required to contribute a guarantee of $100 to the debts of the Company should it be wound up. The address of the Company's registered office and principal place of business is David Phillips Sports Complex, Banks Avenue, Daceyville, NSW 2032.

(ii) Historical cost convention

These financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention.

(iii) Going concern

The directors believe that the going concern basis of preparation is appropriate.

The Company at 31 December 2025 has a net assets of $16,429,471 and $2,873,454 in cash and term-deposit resources to manage the ongoing challenges and opportunities that face NSW Rugby including;

(c) Foreign currency translation

(i) Functional and presentation currency

Items included in the financial statements for the Company are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates ('the functional currency'). The financial statements are presented in Australian dollars ($), which is the Company's functional and presentation currency.

(ii) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the exchange rates at the dates of the transactions. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the translation of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at year end exchange rates are generally recognised in profit or loss. They are deferred in equity if they relate to qualifying cash flow hedges and qualifying net investment hedges or are attributable to part of the net investment in a foreign operation.

Foreign exchange gains and losses that relate to borrowings are presented in the statement of profit & loss within finance costs. All other foreign exchange gains and losses are presented in the statement of profit & loss on a net basis within other gains/(losses).

Non-monetary items that are measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was determined. Translation differences on assets and liabilities carried at fair value are reported as part of the fair value gain or loss. For example, translation differences on non-monetary assets and liabilities such as equities held at fair value through profit or loss are recognised in profit or loss as part of the fair value gain or loss and translation differences on non-monetary assets such as at fair value through other comprehensive income are recognised in other comprehensive income.

(d) Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognised for the major business activities using the methods outlined below.

Match day tickets and memberships

Revenue from match day tickets and memberships are measured at fair value and taken to income in the period to which it relates.

Sponsorships

Revenue from sponsorship is measured at fair value and recognised evenly on a monthly basis within the financial year to which it relates. Sponsorship advances are deferred until earned pursuant to the sponsorship agreement.

Grants

Government and other grants are reviewed to determine if they are to be accounted for under AASB 1058 Income of Not-for-Profit Entities or AASB15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers.

In cases where there is an 'enforceable' contract with a customer with 'sufficiently specific' performance obligations, the transaction is accounted for under AASB 15 and income is recognised when (or as) the performance obligations are satisfied.

Where an enforceable contract does not exist or the contract does not stipulate specific performance obligations, then the revenue is recognised when the Association obtains control over that revenue in accordance with AASB1058.

Interest income

Interest revenue is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts though the expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount.

(e) Income tax

The Group is exempt from income tax in accordance with the provisions of section 50.45 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

1 Summary of material accounting policies (continued)

(f) Leases

Leases are recognised as a right-of-use asset and a corresponding liability at the date at which the leased asset is available for use by the Group.

Contracts may contain both lease and non-lease components. The Group allocates the consideration in the contract to the lease and non-lease components based on their relative stand-alone prices. However, for leases of real estate for which the Group is a lessee, it has elected not to separate lease and non-lease components and instead accounts for these as a single lease component.

Lease terms are negotiated on an individual basis and contain a wide range of different terms and conditions. The lease agreements do not impose any covenants other than the security interests in the leased assets that are held by the lessor. Leased assets may not be used as security for borrowing purposes.

Assets and liabilities arising from a lease are initially measured on a present value basis. Lease liabilities include the net present value of the following lease payments:

- fixed payments (including in-substance fixed payments), less any lease incentives receivable
- variable lease payment that are based on an index or a rate, initially measured using the index or rate as at the commencement date
- amounts expected to be payable by the Group under residual value guarantees

Lease payments to be made under reasonably certain extension options are also included in the measurement of the liability.

The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease. If that rate cannot be readily determined, which is generally the case for leases in the Group, the lessee's incremental borrowing rate is used, being the rate that the individual lessee would have to pay to borrow the funds necessary to obtain an asset of similar value to the right-of-use asset in a similar economic environment with similar terms, security and conditions.

Lease payments are allocated between principal and finance cost. The finance cost is charged to profit or loss over the lease period so as to produce a constant periodic rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability for each year.

Right-of-use assets are measured at cost comprising the following:

- the amount of the initial measurement of lease liability
- any lease payments made at or before the commencement date less any lease incentives received
- any initial direct costs, and restoration costs.

Right-of-use assets are generally depreciated over the shorter of the asset's useful life and the lease term on a straight-line basis. If the Group is reasonably certain to exercise a purchase option, the right-of-use asset is depreciated over the underlying asset's useful life.

Payments associated with short-term leases of equipment and vehicles and all leases of low-value assets are recognised on a straight-line basis as an expense in profit or loss. Short-term leases are leases with a lease term of 12 months or less. Low-value assets comprise IT equipment and small items of office furniture.

Variable lease payments

Variable payment terms are used for a variety of reasons, including minimising the fixed costs base. Variable lease payments are recognised in profit or loss in the year in which the condition that triggers those payments occurs.

1 Summary of material accounting policies (continued)

(g) Impairment of assets

Assets are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs of disposal and value in use. For the purposes of assessing impairment, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are separately identifiable cash inflows which are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or groups of assets (cash-generating units). Non-financial assets other than goodwill that suffered an impairment are reviewed for possible reversal of the impairment at the end of each reporting year.

(h) Cash and cash equivalents

For the purpose of presentation in the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents includes cash on hand, deposits held at call with financial institutions, other short-term, highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value, and bank overdrafts. Bank overdrafts are shown within borrowings in current liabilities in the balance sheet.

(i) Trade receivables

Trade receivables are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less loss allowance. Trade receivables are generally due for settlement within 30 days. They are presented as current assets unless collection is not expected for more than 12 months after the reporting date.

Collectability of trade receivables is reviewed on an ongoing basis. Debts which are known to be uncollectible are written off by reducing the carrying amount directly. An allowance account is used when there is objective evidence that the Company will not be able to collect all amounts due according to the original terms of the receivables.

Impairment of receivables
The Company has elected to measure loss allowances on trade receivables using a life-time expected loss model. The Company has applied the simplified approach to measuring expected credit losses, which uses a lifetime expected loss allowance. To measure the expected credit losses, trade receivables have been grouped based on days overdue.

(j) Property, plant and equipment

All property, plant and equipment are stated at historical cost less depreciation. Historical cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the items.

Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of any component accounted for as a separate asset is derecognised when replaced. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the reporting year in which they are incurred.

Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method to allocate the cost or revalued amounts of the assets, net of their residual values, over their estimated useful lives or, in the case of leasehold improvements and certain leased plant and equipment, the shorter lease term as follows:

- Team and office equipment 4 - 5 years
- Motor vehicles 4 - 5 years
- Plant and equipment 3-10 years
- Buildings 40 years

The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at the end of each reporting year.

An asset's carrying amount is written down immediately to its recoverable amount if the asset's carrying amount is greater than its estimated recoverable amount (note 1(g)).

Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing proceeds with carrying amount. These are included in profit or loss.

(k) Intangible assets

(i) Trademarks

Trademarks are shown at historical cost. Trademarks are recognised at fair value at the acquisition date. They have a finite useful life and are subsequently carried at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses. The Company amortises intangible assets with a limited useful life using the straight-line method over estimated useful lives, which is 10 years.

(l) Trade and other payables

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of financial year which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition. Trade and other payables are presented as current liabilities unless payment is not due within 12 months from the reporting date. They are recognised initially at their fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

(m) Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events, it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, and the amount can be reliably estimated. Provisions are not recognised for future operating losses.

Where there are a number of similar obligations, the likelihood that an outflow will be required in settlement is determined by considering the class of obligations as a whole. A provision is recognised even if the likelihood of an outflow with respect to any one item included in the same class of obligations may be small.

Provisions are measured at the present value of management's best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting year. The discount rate used to determine the present value is a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as interest expense.

(n) Employee benefits

(i) Short-term obligations

Liabilities for wages and salaries, including non-monetary benefits and accumulating sick leave that are expected to be settled wholly within 12 months after the end of the period in which the employees render the related service are recognised in respect of employees' services up to the end of the reporting period and are measured at the amounts expected to be paid when the liabilities are settled. The liabilities are presented as current employee benefit obligations in the balance sheet.

(ii) Other long-term employee benefit obligations

The liabilities for long service leave and annual leave that are not expected to be settled wholly within 12 months after the end of the period in which the employees render the related service. They are therefore measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made in respect of services provided by employees up to the end of the reporting period using the projected unit credit method. Consideration is given to expected future wage and salary levels, experience of employee departures and periods of service. Expected future payments are discounted using market yields at the end of the reporting period of high quality corporate bonds with terms and currencies that match, as closely as possible, the estimated future cash outflows.

(o) Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses, and assets are recognised net of the amount of associated GST, unless the GST incurred is not recoverable from the taxation authority. In this case it is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense.

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included with other receivables or payables in the balance sheet.

Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to the taxation authority, are presented as operating cash flows.

2 Critical estimates and judgements

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of accounting estimates which, by definition, will seldom equal the actual results. Management also needs to exercise judgement in applying the Company's accounting policies.

(a) Significant estimates and judgements

Estimates and judgements are continually evaluated. They are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that may have a financial impact on the entity and that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

(b) Critical accounting estimates and assumptions

The Company makes estimates and assumptions concerning the future. The resulting accounting estimates will, by definition, seldom equal the related actual results. Management has made estimates involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, including the useful life of right-of-use assets and fixed assets, and expected credit losses.
